

One single company should be prohibited from owning all television channels, newspapers, and radio stations in a city. How are people going to see different opinions and ideas if only ONE company is releasing all of the information? A healthy democracy needs diversity of opinion.